American Revolution Museum

We will have a guided tour of the new Museum that replaces the Yorktown Victory Center. The Museum is a nationally significant facility featuring vibrant galleries with immersive learning environments, interactive exhibits, and period artifacts, as well as an expanded living-history program that traces the thirteen colonies' struggle for freedom, resulting in the creation of the United States of America.

The opening of the museum in October 2016 was followed earlier this year by the unveiling of new outdoor living-history areas: the Continental Army Encampment, a new amphitheatre, and Revolutionary-era farm.

Yorktown Battlefield

The site of the Revolutionary War's last major battle, it was here that the American and French troops secured the independence of the United States from the British in 1781. The visit begins at the visitors center, where there is a short video introduction, as well as artifacts found on the battlefield, including tents used by Gen. George Washington's army.

There will follow a driving tour of important stops on the battlefield itself.

We will have lunch between visits to the Museum and the Battlefield at Riverwalk Restaurant. Lunch is on our own, and we'll order from the menu. Check it out:
